

Geopraxis

Monday, July 14, 2025 2:35 PM (30 minutes)

In my talk, I will illustrate a concept that is freely inspired by Jürgen's recent book on the Evolution of Knowledge. I will take examples from the long-durée history of Venice, in order to argue for the fruitfulness of a historical inquiry into the geo-anthropological nexus which puts material human agency at the center. In my presentation, I will privilege early modernity as a time of historical transition to the techno-scientific societies of the Anthropocene.

Presenter: OMODEO, Pietro Daniel

Session Classification: Science & Society